Dear Hiring Team,

I am writing to express my keen interest in joining Coinbase, renowned for its groundbreaking contributions to the world of cryptocurrency and digital payments.

Throughout my academic and professional journey, I have cultivated a strong passion for technology and innovation. This enthusiasm has led me to actively engage with Coinbase's suite of products, particularly the Coinbase Wallet, which I rely on for seamless transactions to pay for essential services such as cloud hosting and domain registration. It has truly become an indispensable tool in my digital toolkit.

In addition to my utilisation of Coinbase's products, I have also made significant strides in my own projects and endeavours. Notably, I spearheaded the development of an open-source email marketing software aimed at democratising access to essential marketing tools. This project not only showcased my technical proficiency but also highlighted my commitment to leveraging technology for positive change.

Furthermore, my involvement in organising and leading gaming and coding competitions has allowed me to refine my teamwork, communication, and project management skills. These experiences have taught me the value of collaboration and creativity in achieving shared goals, qualities that I see mirrored in Coinbase's culture of innovation and collaboration.

Academically, I have dedicated myself to complex data structures and optimization algorithms, recognizing their pivotal role in problem-solving and algorithmic efficiency. Additionally, I am actively pursuing a deeper understanding of business principles, with the goal of bridging the gap between technology and entrepreneurship to drive meaningful impact.

Thank you for considering my application. I look forward to the possibility of discussing how my achievements, skills, and aspirations align with the needs and objectives of Coinbase. Please find my attached resume for your review.

Warm regards,
Dhruvadeep Malakar
